Proclean's very hands-on management style means attention to detail that puts us a head above the rest.

We're upbeat but we have to be realistic, we know cleaning's not always much fun.

That's why we're pleased at the pride our staff take in their jobs and the extra efforts they make. We treat them well and they reward us with loyalty: take Stan and Steve, they've been with Proclean for 25 years!

At headquarters, MD Andrew Balchin is our motivator, continually looking for ways to improve.

But none of our staff are above joining the team on a big job if it means we can exceed expectations for another satisfied client. It's what sets us apart.
